GUNNERY EXPERIMENTS.

The Merits of India Rubber and Asbestos Fibre For Plugging Shot Holes.

An Experimental Attack is Made on the Pincher by Quick Firing Guns.

The London Times of August 27 gives the following account of some recent interesting naval gunnery experiments in the Solent. The object of the experiments yesterday was to test the merits of plugging shot holes, and as it is of transcendent importance to ascertain the effect of shell firing below the deck, and also the efficacy of any means that can be suggested for arresting or minimizing the inflow of water after the penetration of a ship's sides, the authorities are to be congratulated on the daring innovation of testing theory by operations upon a ship itself. The use of India rubber lining was first proposed, we believe, by Capt. Fitzgerald, and the Resistance was fitted for the trial under his own direction before leaving Devonport in the Bellerophon. Four compartments were built in the bows on the port side of the water line on the watertight flat immediately below the lower deck, and consequently in wake of the skin of the hull, which is five-eighths of an inch thick. These compartments were four feet deep, five feet broad, and varying from ten to thirteen feet in length, and were formed by carrying an iron screen five-sixteenths of an inch in thickness across the athwartships bulkheads of the ship, thereby forming a sort of improvised longitudinal bulkhead. The inner side of this bulkhead was coated with India rubber of different thicknesses, two of the compartments being lined with half-inch and the others with sheets of an inch and an inch and a half respectively. On the starboard bow a patch of rubber an inch in thickness was placed on the exterior skin of the ship without any interior protection and contiguous to this was a cell of circumscribed dimensions filled with asbestos packing, to which it would be imprudent to allude more in detail. Both these devices covered the waterline. As soon as everything was in readiness were at work to cant the hulk to starboard so as to bring the compartments on the port side fairly out of the water. This was achieved by means of shifting 200 tons of iron ballast. The Pincher gunboat was then moored to a buoy at a range of about a hundred yards from the ship, and the fourth compartment, the one furthest from the stem, was attacked by the quick-firing gun, which has a calibre of a little over a couple of inches and throws a shell of six pounds containing a burster of half a pound. The sea was smooth, and as the light was all that could be desired, the projectile hit the target with admirable precision. The Blazer was then made to supersede the Pincher, and attacked number three compartment with the five-inch breech-loader, which discharges a shell weighing 50 pounds, and having a burster of four pounds twelve ounces. The charge was equal to sixteen pounds. After this round an examination was made on board to ascertain the extent of the mischief which had been inflicted below. India rubber is in its very nature a perishable commodity, and, even had it fulfilled the end desired, it would be objectionable for this reason, but it lamentably failed in the primary object. The rounds from both the light and heavier shell-guns not only pierced the bulkhead five feet from the side, as they expected and intended to do, but, as was also feared, they had shattered the rubber coating and cut it into strips. Against shot rubber has been known to succeed in closing up the well-defined perforations, but shell fire is quite another matter, and as it failed with iron as a backing its behavior upon steel, which more readily splinters, may be easily conjectured. The gun to be employed against compartments Nos. 2 and 1 was to be determined after the effect of the first two rounds had been discovered. As the lighter natures had played such frightful havoc it was not deemed advisable to bring a more powerful gun into requisition. The

200 BLUEJACKETS

upon the other compartments were much about the same. As the 5-inch gun had so cruelly punished the inch and a half protected bulkhead in No. 1 compartment, it was thought desirable to see whether its resistance to the power of a rapid firing gun would be more satisfactory, but as a matter of fact, owing doubtless to the circumstance that the small shells happened to hit where they could do the most harm, the damage wrought by them was found to be even greater than by more powerful weapons. Had the defence proved approximately successful, it was intended to have held the ship over to port so as to bring the shot holes under water for the purpose of observing the action of the rubber in keeping out the sea. As, however, each shell had exploded within the compartments, and as a consequence the rubber had been lacerated and scattered under the test and the screen rent, this was clearly unnecessary, and the men were sent to plug up the wounds by means of the usual plugs and oak stoppers. The Resistance having again been made tolerably watertight, she was canted over so as to bring the rubber patch and the asbestos cell out of the water. They then were afterwards attacked in their turn by the six pounder, three rounds being firing against the former and one against the latter. The results in these cases were considerably more satisfactory, as projectiles passed through the rubber intact. Two of the perforations when looked through on the inside exhibited no defined hole, but a series of radical cracks or cuts, while the aperture made by the third shot had completely closed, though not so completely as to perfectly keep out the sea. The assistance, on the other hand, had completely answered its purpose, not as was supposed by swelling or through any elastic property, but by a change of substance, having been converted into a sort of paste or putty by means of absorption. When the ship was heeled over and a cell was brought under water it appeared thoroughly to do the work that was intended. The last shot fired pursued a somewhat erratic course. Hitting an iron it ricochetted through the deck above, and made an indent against the overlying deck, the fragments keeping up a continual rumbling as though searching for a means of exit. This concluded the first part of the programme, and the Resistance was towed into harbor in the evening to be prepared for an assault by torpedoes in the region of its midships section and below her armor protection.

SAANICH EXHIBITION.

Eighteenth Annual Show of the Saanich Agricultural Society.

A Successful Exhibit but a Small Attendance of People.

The annual exhibition of the Saanich Agricultural Society, held yesterday, was the eighteenth since the formation of the society, and although not so large probably as some that have been held in recent years, it was quite as complete in all the more important essentials of a really useful show. The number of people present were less, and the exhibits not quite so numerous as last year, because the farmers are still busy with the work incidental to harvesting operations. The exhibition would undoubtedly have been much larger had it been held two weeks hence. But the day was a glorious one, and many ladies and gentlemen from the city, tempted by the delightful weather, the charming drive and the well-known hospitality awaiting them, were early in attendance, and helped to swell the crowd of "fair women and brave men" from the immediate neighborhood to a respectable size. The entries were all made and the exhibits in position at a much earlier hour than formerly, thus enabling the judges to get through with their work, and giving visitors access to the hall at 2 p. m. The officers of the society are D. McDonald, President; R. Brethour, Vice-President; and G. A. McTavish, Secretary. These gentlemen were indefatigable in the performance of their duties, and to them, and especially to the courteous and efficient Secretary, is due the expedition and smoothness with which the business was conducted. Early in the day the Cedar Hill band arrived on the ground and at intervals enlivened the occasion with selections of excellent music. Although the entries in agricultural products and live stock were less in number than last year, the quality was perhaps superior, particularly in the former. The many fine samples of wheat, oats, peas, etc., fully demonstrated the capabilities of Saanich as a first-class grain-growing district. Mr. H. Simpson exhibited a bag of Black-Eyed Susan Peas that was a marvel for size, shape and soundness. An almost equally fine sample was shown by J. Hagan, who was also an exhibitor of a large and plumb variety of fall wheat, which would compare favorably with the much-vaunted A 1 Hard of Manitoba. The other varieties of grain were equally superior, and almost any sample on exhibition might be entered in competition with the best that Ontario or Manitoba can produce with a good chance of carrying off the honors. The display of roots and fruit, however, was the special feature of the show. The carrots, mangolds, turnips, &c. excellent though they were, did not excel the magnificent assortment of apples, of which Messrs. H. Mitchell and G. A. McTavish were large exhibitors. The quinces, shown by H. Simpson, and the peaches by G. A. McTavish, were undoubted evidence of the prolific character of our soil and climate and its remarkable fruit-growing possibilities. There were fourteen entries in butter—the most important product of a well regulated farm—for which Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Ruckle carried off first prizes.

The ladies fancy work department contained about the usual number of exhibits, but of a better and more artistic quality. Miss Maggie McKeon exhibited a very handsome screen, in Kensington painting, and Miss Newburg a scarf and hand made apron in crewel work, which elicited high praise from the judges.

Miss Purver and Miss Gregory were successful in carrying off prizes for embroidery, tatting and lace work. Mrs. Pollard's patch-work quilt took first prize and Mrs. Mills first, but so equal were they in the quality of work that the judges must have had great difficulty to decide between them. Mrs. G. A. McTavish was a very large exhibitor of Berlin wool and crochet work and fancy knitting and secured a prize for every article. A silk embroidered piano cover, worked by Miss Shakespeare was the most beautiful specimen of needle work in the hall. A handsome knitted quilt alongside apparently did not receive a prize, although it certainly deserved one. The only entries of painting were made by Miss C. C. Pierre—water colors on silk—for which first and second prizes were awarded. Altogether the department was highly creditable to the ladies of Saanich, who are fully abreast of their sisters elsewhere in their taste and skill in needle and fancy work.

The Percheron stallion, "Young Emperor," owned by J. Todd, Cedar Hill, was the finest specimen of horse flesh on the ground. A two-year-old mare, exhibited by the same party, weighed 1200 pounds, while another two-year-old, owned by J. D. Bryant was also a center of attraction to connoisseurs of the noble animal. Several very fine colts were shown by J. T. McIlmoyle, G. Stelly and others, and on the whole the exhibit of horses, although not large, was not inferior to anything of the same size that could be seen elsewhere.

The cattle yard was not the most pleasing feature of the exhibition, although the Jersey cow and a short-horn bull, cow and heifer, shown by S. Sandover, and a few excellent grades, in a great measure redeemed it from mediocrity. There were, besides, a number of very good grade cattle, but the tendency nowadays is so much to thoroughbreds, and properly so, that a common grade cow or bull scarcely excites even a passing notice.

The pens devoted to the sheep were nearly all full, and there was also a very fair number of pigs, but nothing of an unusually superior description.

The most amusing feature of the day was the baby show, arranged, we believe, impromptu, and open to all babies under twelve months' old. His Worship Mayor Fell and Mr. Harry Helmcken gave the prizes, the latter giving $5 for the first, and His Worship $2 for the second best baby. They also acted as judges, and, we believe, gave as complete satisfaction as any other two gentlemen on the ground could have done. There were four entries, three others that were offered having to retire because they were over age. After a minute inspection the first prize was awarded to Master Glenn Purver and the second to Miss Dolly White. The well known gallantry of the junior judge would have had it otherwise; but the Mayor, it was stated by a lady acquaintance brought him over by permitting him to kiss the babies.

The following is the list of judges:

Cattle, sheep and swine: Hon. J. Robson, A Menagh, J. Gosnell.

Draught, horses and roadsters: H. Helmcken, Geo. Rudge and Mr. Cavin.

DR. WATT'S DEFENCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR.—I have hitherto treated the various letters that have appeared in your paper and the Standard connecting my name in an offensive way with the recent dismissal of Mr. Bannerman from the Barkerville school, with the silent contempt that such anonymous and slanderous trash deserves. In the last letter from "Miner," however, I read the following: "Secretary Houser stated further that while drunk, Dr. Watt prepared an advertisement for another teacher," a statement that even when read in connection with the previous sentence, is ambiguous and needs correction. I do not suppose that "Miner" intended to convey the impression that I was drunk, because that is not the fact, as he very well knows. The sentence read by a stranger to the circumstances does, however, convey that impression; hence I hope that "Miner" will do me the justice by correcting his language and making his meaning perfectly intelligible and unmistakable—if he can. He ought, also, to have done—he ought yet to do—me the further justice of stating that at the "public" meeting referred to by him I denied having influenced or tried to influence Mr. Nutt against the teacher, and that Mr. Nutt had elsewhere denied the same charge—all the proof it was possible for me to bring—proof enough to satisfy any gentleman; but not having gentlemen to deal with, it has been rejected in favor of presumptions and surmises. Much healthy light might be thrown on this case by a temperate discussion of the facts (if that is what Mr. B. wants) or an investigation by the educational authorities; for emphatically the whole affair furnishes an admirable instance of a man's injudicious friends, refusal to let muddy waters settle. To illustrate it might be well in the interest of truth and right that a little light should be thrown on the subject of this so called "public" meeting. The meeting was not legally called, was a packed one, and included persons more zealous than discreet, from outside the limits of the school district, and was not attended by the majority of residents interested in the school and sending children thereto. Indeed only three heads of families (representing nine children) were at any time present, and only two when the pre-cooked resolution, as the chairman afterwards publicly admitted to me, was in the handwriting of the teacher and was the joint authorship of himself (Mr. Ferguson) and the teacher! It is true that it was carried with "only one dissenting voice," but the whole truth is that only eight hands were held up for it out of some twenty or twenty-five persons present. I ask you then, Mr. Editor, what after all does a certificate of gentlemanly conduct, prepared by the person himself, and carried by a vote of eight only, amount to? And how much condemnation of the action of the trustees is implied in the adverse vote of two discontented heads of families and four other residents of the school district? Not much certainly with apologies for noticing at all attacks so evidently to the intelligent reader the outcome of vindictive personal spite.

HUGH WATT, M.D.

Barkerville, Sept. 22.

THE NORTH ARM.

An Enjoyable Evening Spent in the Richmond Cannery, North Arm of the Fraser River.

A correspondent writes THE TIMES the following particulars of an enjoyable entertainment which was given on Monday evening, 27th ult., by a select number of batchelors, to the ladies of this settlement, in one of the spacious apartments of the Richmond Cannery buildings, which was brilliantly lighted by innumerable lamps and profusely and tastefully decorated with evergreens, flowers and mottoes. Dancing began at 8:30 p. m. and was kept up with undiminished ardour until 5 a.m. the following morning. The supper was of a most recherche description, combining the most savoury solidities with the most refined delicacies, to which the votaries of Terpsichore did ample justice. The ladies showed their appreciation of the efforts made to give them pleasure, by mustering strongly, both in beauty and numbers, and by evincing remarkable energy by the indefatigable manner in which they trod the floor in the "many light fantastic." When the hour of separation arrived the unanimous opinion of all, both male and female, was that the gathering had proved an unmitigated success. Great credit is due to the committee of management for their designs so skillfully planned, and so successfully executed, and all unite in the hope that the coming winter may be made happy by a quick succession of evenings spent similarly.

COWICHAN NOTES.

Sunday was a sad day in Cowichan, about 200 people followed to his last resting place the remains of the late Alfred Sutton, a man who everyone, who came in contact with, loved. The funeral services were performed by the Rev. Mr. Leakey, at the Quamichan Church, which was only large enough to accommodate a portion of those present. The event cast a sad gloom over the settlement and the gravest sympathy is felt for the widow and children of the deceased. Mr. Lomas, Fishery officer at Cowichan, has caused the removal of the seines fishing at the mouth of the Cowichan River, as it was found that they were under the legal size in mesh and were being used too near the mouth of the river, thus destroying young salmon trout. The steamer Emma has been taking the fish caught over to the Fraser canneries but this time had to return with only 500 salmon. Of course the fishermen are very bitter on the subject, but every one else thinks it would have been better had the fish been protected in this way a year or two ago.

TO EXHIBITORS.

The agricultural hall committee will be on the grounds at Beacon Hill to-morrow afternoon for the purpose of allotting space to intending exhibitors.

NEWS BY CABLE.

FROM HUNGARY.

PESTH, Oct. 1.—Herr Von Tisza adopted the unusual course of reading his speech in the Hungarian Parliament yesterday. Printed copies were given to newspapers in order to avoid mistakes. The speech gives general satisfaction although it is thought to be lacking in explicitness in the government's relations with Germany. It is expected that the effect of the speech in Bulgaria will be to encourage the government to resist Russia.

MARRIED TWO LILLYS.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The case of Edward Solomon, husband of Lillian Russell, arrested for bigamy on complaint of his first wife, Lilly Grey, came up for hearing yesterday. Testimony was given that when he was first taken into custody Solomon admitted that he was married to Lillian Russell in New Jersey, and said: "Anyhow we went through some ceremony." It was shown, however, that he also said at the same time that when he married Lillian he was unaware that his first wife was living, as he had neither seen no heard from her for several years. Solomon was removed pending the arrival from the U. S. of a number of witnesses whose attendance has been secured. The magistrate refused Solomon's request for a reduction of bail.

FRANCE'S POSITION.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—A French member of the Egyptain debt commission has addressed to the powers a strong protest against the manner in which the English are using the funds raised by the loan and guaranteed by the powers.

In the course of his remarks at Montpelier yesterday Prime Minister de Freycinet said the main object to be considered now was the economic progress of the country. Thanks to the increased revenue derived from taxation he hoped the Atlantic and Mediterannim Canal scheme would be speedily carried into effect. He repeated his appeal for republican unity.

AN OMINUS SPEECH.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The Times this morning says: England has good reason to be satisfied with the statements made by Kerr Lizza in the Hungarian parliament yesterday, which indicates a point beyond which the Austro-Germann alliance cannot be strained without breaking.

WHIPPED TO DEATH.

MOSCOW, Oct. 1.—The Gazette declares that thirty Bulgarians have been whipped to death for expressing sympathy with Russia's action in Bulgaria.

ICE FROM CHICAGO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—There are on the way west from Chicago 80 cars of ice which it has been found necessary to purchase here to supply the market on this coast. Special trains of 15 or more cars each are made up and loaded with ice at Crystal Lake, some 60 miles from Chicago. The ice is purchased by the Union Ice Company of San Francisco.

[This is another industry that can be prosecuted with advantage and profit in British Columbia. From Kamloops and the lakes east of that point there should be no difficulty in procuring an indefinite supply of good, pure natural ice.]

U. S. PUBLIC DEBT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—It was in consequence of the urgent appeal of Senator Fair that the President consented to the re-opening of the mint at Nevada. It is stated in the Treasury Department today that there has been a decrease of nearly $11,000,000 in the public debt during the month of September.

AS UNTRUTHFUL AND AS UNRELIABLE AS EVER.

The Colonist, while asserting that Mr. HETT "held office for a long time after Mr. Justice GRAY had unseated him" fails to give the public the actual facts in connection with the case. A general election took place and Messrs. HELGESEN and HETT obtained a majority of the votes cast, the vote being 77 for Mr. HELGESEN; 74 for Mr. HETT as per official returns and 73 for Mr. POOLEY, who entered a protest and claimed the seat. The election took place on the 25th of July and in due course the case came to a hearing before Mr. Justice GRAY, who, after the case had been argued by counsel on both sides, rendered his judgment on the 16th of November unseating Mr. HETT. That gentleman's counsel, as was his right, at once entered an appeal, which was argued before Justice GRAY on the 29th of November and by him dismissed. Until his judgment was rendered Mr. HETT's counsel, as well as many of the legal fraternity in the province thought that gentleman was justly entitled to the seat. Why then should he have resigned until a definite decision had been reached? It was known that an early session of the new legislature had been called, which took place early in January, when the BEAVEN government were defeated. But in the name of all that is fair and honorable by what right does Mr. SIMEON DUCK cling to the office of Treasurer, or what tenable argument can his friends advance for so flagrant a violation of responsible government? No parallel can be drawn between the course pursued by Mr. HETT and the conduct of Mr. DUCK, who is conscious that the electors of the city having condemned, on repeated occasions, his public conduct, with an immodesty that is truly refreshing with "commendable regularity and powerful exactitude" draws from the public exchequer $250 per month to which he has no more right than the humblest citizen in the province. In this matter there is a measure of right and wrong, and the latter is the line Mr. DUCK is pursuing. However he is but fulfilling the prophesies made of him many times over by his now bosom friend and brother in iniquity in the boodle business—the editor of the Colonist. The Provincial Secretary—the Hon. JOHN ROBSON, who gets credit for supplying the government with what little brains it possesses—through his mouth-piece the New Westminster Columbian, has sounded the keynote that either Mr. Duck should secure a seat or step down and out. Even the elastic conscience of the Provincial Secretary is shocked at the immodesty of the usurper of the Treasury office. The Colonist states that which it knows to be a palpable falsehood when it asserts that the Nova Scotian cabinet is composed of nine salaried ministers. There are but three: The Provincial Secretary and Treasurer at a salary of $2400 a year; the Attorney-General at $2,000, and the Commissioner of Works and Mines at $2,000. A similar number manage the affairs of Prince Edward Island at a cost of $8,900. In Quebec there are six and not eight as untruthfully stated by the Colonist at a salary of $25,000 with a population close upon two millions. Ontario with a population of over two millions and an income and expenditure of many millions manages her affairs at an outlay of $25,000 and six cabinet ministers. New Brunswick, for an expenditure of $8,800 to five ministers, governs and controls her affairs so admirably that the indebtedness of the province is not on the increase. The appointment of a fifth minister recently in Manitoba is condemned by the most ardent supporters of the NORQUAY government and possibly this one act may be the rock upon which the frail Manitoba craft will stand at the forthcoming contest. So much for the Colonist's palpable untruths. THE TIMES, as well as many of the electors of British Columbia, is of the opinion that at present the interests of the country would not suffer greatly were the economical hatchet applied and the offices of Treasurer and Secretary merged into one. The bumptuous, arrogant Colonist may consider such views and opinions to be "impertinent." Nevertheless as these opinions are those held by a majority of the electors of British Columbia, as the total vote polled at last election for and against the government will testify, we will continue to reiterate them, and assure the ancient dame of the Colonist that no barking or braying on its behalf from the coterie which guides its principles will deter or prevent us from performing our whole duty in regard to Mr. DUCK, Mr. HIGGINS or any other individual, who, in our judgment, may be acting contrary to the constitution and best interests of our province.

PROGRESSIVE JAPAN.

On Tuesday next, 5th inst., Japan will reach an important epoch in her history, for on that day will assemble within her own confines a conference of the seventeen powers having treaty interests in the country of the Mikado. Under the existing treaties, foreigners residing in Japan, who chose to live in the treaty settlements are under consular jurisdiction, and exempt from that of the Mikado. Their trading and property holding privileges are restricted to those treaty cities. The progressive party in Japan has long been anxious to see all invidious limitations of Japanese control in Japan abolished, and with them are quite willing to abolish every possible restriction upon the freedom of foreigners, in trading or residing in any part of the country. This is a consummation most devoutly to be wished, and there is a probability that an agreement will be come to in October by which in the course of three years all extraordinary artificial barriers to the intercourse of Japan with the rest of the world will be swept away. A customs tariff there will be, and one of the conditions insisted upon by Japanese statesmen is the right of the country to revise the present tariff to suit itself. In order to meet the views of foreign residents who are not yet prepared to put themselves under Japanese jurisdiction it is proposed to retain the settlements for three years, but any foreigner will be permitted during that time to accept Japanese jurisdiction if he likes and with that the privilege of traveling and trading throughout the land. At the end of that term the Mikado to hold civil and criminal jurisdiction over every part of this country, and we have no doubt that

His object all sublime
He will achieve in time
To make the punishment fit the crime.

at least as well as that object is now accomplished by European and United States consuls. The only permanent restriction on His Highness' jurisdiction in criminal matters proposed, is that capital punishment is not to be inflicted on foreigners. No American or European name must ever appear on Ko Ko's list.

It is to be hoped the progressive policy of the enlightened Japanese Government will receive every possible encouragement from the Treaty Powers. Canadians have a very practical interest in seeing this country freely opened up to foreign trade. A population of over thirty-seven millions is making astonishing progress in the adoption of the habits of western civilization. With a very fruitful soil, only about a tenth of which is under cultivation, the Japanese have in their own country the potentiality of growing rich as soon as they adopt western methods of agriculture. The prejudices of their agriculturists must give way, before instructions of their government and contact with Europeans. It might be said that these prejudices are characteristic of their class rather than of their race. Farmers even in this country are not without prejudices in favor of the style of farming that suited their fathers. A great and constantly growing market must open in Japan for many kinds of manufactured articles; but the requirements of the market require careful study as American exporters have found to their cost. Japan is worth a great deal of study by Canadian merchants and manufacturers.

ALMOST IDOLIZED.

The Week is of the opinion that Sir JOHN MACDONALD's great speech at London "will well repay a careful reading; and in reading it it must be difficult for the most impregnable Grit, if he feels way pride in his country, to repress entirely that emotion which moves so powerfully all who come in any under the personal influence of the veteran Premier. The story Sir JOHN had to tell was one in which the chief actor might well take great pride. Canada to-day, compared with the Canada of July 1st, 1867—the intervening period being that covered by Sir JOHN's relation—is as the youth to the infant; and we are now as in that stage of adolescence when awakened consciousness every day reveals to an alert, fresh imagination some new delight in our surroundings. Nineteen years ago our eyesight did not reach much beyond the cradle of Canada in the two older provinces; but to-day in our budding manhood we can take account of many advantages we possess in full enjoyment or in near prospect, of whose very existence we had not a suspicion in our childhood. The promise of manhood lies now close before us, and we have a youth's abundant capacity to perceive, seize, and enjoy the delights and treasures at hand; and quite naturally those who are most filled with the splendors of this vision of hope feel most kindly toward him who has done most among us to bring it to pass. Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD may naturally be regarded by those who love Canada with feelings of warm admiration; for the progress of the country and the life of the statesman are very closely connected; in many, indeed, this almost passionate feeling would seem to be of the quality of a first love, the man symbolising the country; and when he is gone none can take his place with them, for not only will the early youth of the nation itself have slipped away with him, but, as far as can be seen, he leaves nobody that can hope to so fill the popular imagination for many years to come."

VICTIMS OF ALCOHOL.

THE METHODS USED IN A PRIVATE HOSPITAL FOR WOMEN.

Visit to a High-Toned Inebriate Asylum. The Plan of Treatment Adopted—Danger When There is a Reaction—Peculiarities of Patients.

"The patients here are all women," said the manager of a quiet, unobtrusive private hospital in the neighborhood of Central park. From the outside of the building nothing could be seen to indicate the character of the occupants, and it could easily have been taken for the home of a business man of means.

"What are the special features of the institution?" continued the manager. "There is only one disease treated here, and that is drunkenness. Drunkenness a disease! Undoubtedly, the same as any other disordered condition of the body. Alcohol is a poison, and people who take it habitually suffer from chronic poisoning, just as the man does who works in a white lead factory for any length of time. The patients are all wealthy here, and confidentially, this place is nothing more than a high-toned inebriate asylum. It would never do to call it so, as it would ruin the business entirely.

"It is a peculiar thing about many of our patients, that is, those who come willingly, that if there were anything said about this being a retreat for drunkards they would never come here. They are sensitive on this point, although they know what is the difficulty with them. The hospital is always full, and, in fact, patients have to be turned away every day and I understand that places similar to this have been started further down town, to take care of the increase in the business. I can't say that drunkenness among wealthy women is on the increase, but there is no doubt that the number of people seeking treatment is larger than it was a year ago. Some of the cases are bad, and the women who have formed the habit of taking morphine to quiet the nervous condition induced by alcohol are the worst. Some are brought here in the wildest paroxysms of delirium tremens, after the treatment of the family physician has ceased to be of benefit.

THE PLAN OF TREATMENT.

"Are the patients cured? That is hard to tell. The object of the treatment is to break the habit. Patients have been sent home seemingly strong and all right, who after a time come back worse than ever. But little medicine is given in the plan of treatment, and no substitute for the alcohol. Medicine to take away the appetite for alcohol is nonsense, for by giving something for this purpose another habit will usually be formed equally as bad. Whatever tends to strengthen the body is used, and no patient is safe to discharge until the inflammation of the stomach caused by alcohol has been removed. Fresh air, baths, exercise, light food and agreeable mental occupation do the work it a cure is possible. There is a class of patients who do not want to stop drinking. They spend a few weeks with us, get patched up somewhat and go back to their excesses with the vigor of youthful indulgence. All the patients are benefited by treatment, unless there is too great an organic derangement of the kidneys and liver. I know of some absolute cures but they are but a comparatively small percentage of those treated.

"The trouble is that when they leave here, as soon as there is a reaction, however slight, from the cessation of tonics, they feel depressed and take a little stimulant to drive away the dullness and counteract the low vitality. When this is done once, it is only a question of time when stimulants are taken in large quantities for every little ailment. This sets up an inflammation which is the cause of the craving for alcohol, and the habit is formed. I have had patients under my charge whose relatives would willingly pay any amount of money to have the habit broken. It is not a question of money at all. Millions could not cure a person who did not have a stronger desire to stop drinking than to drink. This is the real secret of a radical cure.

PECULIARITIES OF PATIENTS.

"The patients cannot, as a rule, be trusted. They will lie about their condition, make themselves appear to be well and strong, only that the restraint they are under may be relaxed, so that they may have a chance to get something to drink. Even when they are brought here, physical wrecks, trembling, with shattered nerves, wild eyes and wandering minds, they will declare that they have not drank in months, and claim that they are being persecuted by their family or friends. There are many sad cases where the habit of drinking has been formed innocently and perhaps under the advice of a physician. Then there will usually be an honest effort to break away from the grip that is tighter than a band of iron, and the mental torture induced by the effort to keep straight and the lack of confidence in the ability to do so is something horrible at times and can only be appreciated by those who have seen cases frequently or undergone the agony themselves.

"There is one striking peculiarity about the alcoholic patient. They will agree with every statement made concerning the injurious effects of alcohol, and will acknowledge that drunkenness is the worst habit that could be formed. They will deliver temperance lectures to each other by the hour, and weep freely as they recount their misery and sufferings. Give the most earnest protestor among them a chance to get a bottle of whisky and they will seize it eagerly. The thought of whisky starts the machinery of desire going so strongly that nothing can resist it, and usually until a patient's stomach is healed, she will drink whisky if she can get it until insensibility is produced."—New York Tribune.

Steering by an Alarm Clock.

A yachting party in the sloop William Henry met with a slight mishap down the river a few days ago. The leading spirits of the day's cruise were Bob Williamson and Mike Sommers. Thomas B. Bourne catered for the party and had placed on board a keg of beer, five dozen deviled crabs, as many sandwiches and other refreshments. As none of the crowd was an expert sailor, it was decided to borrow or hire a compass and chart to steer by. Failing to procure the compass, Ned O'Mahoney kindly loaned them a tin-framed alarm clock, which he said would do just as well. Everything went along nicely until they started back. Soon after heading for Baltimore the clock somehow didn't point out the right way and the yacht struck an Anne Arundel oat boat and had her mast knocked out. The keg of beer rolled overboard and the party were left in a sad plight. After drifting about for an hour they hailed a tug and were towed up. They have concluded that an alarm clock is not exactly the thing to steer a boat by, and on the next cruise they will have a sailing master.—Baltimore Herald.

Politeness of a Newport Coachman.

A wealthy New Yorker had engaged a splendid cottage at Newport, and also a new driver for his horses. The driver was advised to be very polite if he intended to keep his place. Accordingly when the master went to the Queen Anne stable the following dialogue ensued: Master—Well, John, how are the horses? Coachman—They are quite well, sir, thank you, and how are you?—Boston Bow-wow.

A Sufficient Cause for Anxiety.

"Mamma, you read the other day that a tiger died of eating sawdust?"

"Yes, dear. He swallowed it with his food. Sawdust was thrown into his cage to keep it clean."

"Mamma is there any likelihood of my doll dying? She's gone and eaten herself chuck full of sawdust."—Philadelphia Call.

Uncivil Manners Between Boys.

There is a good deal of rudeness between boys in their intercourse and bearing with one another that is not really intended as such, but is not, therefore, any the less to be disapproved. It is often simply the overflow of excessive high spirits. But the very best good humor, unrestrained by proper bounds and limitations, may become the most positive incivility. We often apologize for the coarseness of people by saying "He means well." It is well if we can make such an apology for them, for if their rudeness is really intentional they are not fit to be received into any worthy person's society. But they who mean well should also do well, and the ways of politeness are never so easily learned as in youth. The boy who is habitually coarse and rude in his bearing toward other boys will be such as a man toward men, and all his life will never gain the reputation of being a gentleman.—Philadelphia Call.

What "Father Says" and Does.

If parents think that children do not notice closely everything they do they make a serious mistake. Children see quickly and reason with marvelous exactness, and are not easily deceived. They are more likely to notice every little act of the father, because he is not always at home, and what "father says" and what "father does" are the things they most wish to say and do. No matter how dearly they may love their mother it is undoubtedly true that children imitate the father far more closely than they do the mother. So, therefore, the part a father bears in the training of children is a very, very important one, and he who shirks it, throwing it all on the shoulders of the already overburdened mother, will have a serious sin to answer for some day.—Cleveland Leader.

Peculiar to a Boarding School.

There is a fashionable boarding school in New York where the "young ladies" are taught to enter and get out of a carriage. A vehicle with the proper pedal arrangements for this sort of exercise, which determines a lady's breeding and claim to social position, is kept in the back yard of the educational establishment, and there the "carriage classes" are put through the most arduous training. Another accomplishment, peculiar to this gilt-edged academy, is learning to eat asparagus, oranges, grapes and other juicy and unmanageable viands, in a style that shall represent the perfection of table manners.—Good Housekeeping.

What Becomes of Vassar Students.

Out of nearly 700 Vassar graduates about 300 have been drawn in nuptial noose. The full-blown buds left have taken up various callings. There are 17 physicians, 2 organists, 10 bookkeepers, 5 chemists, 15 school principals, 2 farmers, 1 census clerk, 2 insurance agents, 230 teachers, 6 artists, 1 law clerk, 5 librarians, 1 copyist, 12 music teachers, 3 astronomical assistants, 2 journalists, 3 gymnastic teachers, 2 missionaries, 3 public readers and 4 authors.—Chicago Herald.

How to Choose Wall Paper.

Light wall paper should be chosen on a sunshiny day, and dark paper in a somewhat shaded corner. The reason for this is that the light paper is lighter and reflects brightness, and the dark paper is really darker, on the wall than when one side only is shown in the lighted room. It would be well if paper hangers had a corner rack, that is one with a right angle in it, to judge of the reflections of two walls of any sort of paper.—Cleveland Leader.

GET ME ONE OF THOSE, MOTHER!

Edward Fawcet, sworn before Judge Galt, Toronto, 1882; Jas. Bethune, Q. C., for plaintiffs:—I live at 287 Yonge street, Toronto; am a dry goods and gents' furnishings merchant there. I had occasion to use the Starr Kidney Pad for one of my sons, for bed wetting; weakness in the kidneys and bladder. Q.—And what was the effect of the use of the pad? A.—He wore it for about six weeks, and he seemed to be all right. The boy was about 12 years of age; I had him under medical treatment for this before, and that was not successful. Q.—To what do you attribute the cure? A.—To the pad. Q.—You gave a testimonial to the company, I believe? A.—I did sir; it was printed J. R. Fawcet; my name is Edward, I am the man intended. Cross-examination—The boy wore the pad for six weeks, and it cured him; he did not wear a second pad. Q.—To what doctor had you taken the boy before that? A.—He was taken to a doctor who is a chemist on Yonge street, who was said to understand that part of the business; and he did him no good. Q.—I understood that little boys who used to do that sort of thing, wetting the bed, were treated to a pad made of rawhide applied to the exterior as a cure? A.—He got that often enough, too often, until we found out that it was a weakness, that whipping did not cure. Q.—Was it after six weeks you gave the testimonial—was it after the boy was cured? A.—Yes sir. Q.—And there is no doubt about his wearing it six weeks? A.—No sir. Q.—Well now just please to listen while I read Mr. Fawcet. The testimonial is dated the 10th of December, 1880:—"My boy was troubled with bed wetting for ten years; your child's pad, purchased three weeks ago, has cured him; I am thankful, and can praise the Starr Kidney Pad." That is your testimonial. A.—Yes; that is it. It was a mistake in time in writing out the testimonial.

I AM THANKFUL.—TORONTO, December 10th, 1880. GENTLEMEN,—My boy was troubled with bed wetting for ten years. Your Child's Pad purchased three weeks ago, has cured him. I am thankful and can conscientiously praise the Starr Kidney Pad. Yours respectfully,

J. R. FAWCET.

—The easiest way to lose money is to advertise injudiciously, and the easiest way to accumulate a fortune is to advertise judiciously. It requires experience to tell how to advertise, but there are some firms, capable and reliable, who do it. Among them is Geo. P. Rowell & Co.'s Newspaper Advertising Bureau, 10 Spruce street, New York.

THE SEALERS.

The Behring sea seizures are now receiving the attention of the the U. S. government, and communications have passed between Washington and Victoria on the subject. A bill for damages will be made out by the owners of the schooners seized and forwarded to Washington. It is very probable that the matter will be settled without much delay by the release of the vessels, as there is reason to believe that the U. S. Government is not anxious to maintain the equivocal position into which she was hurried by officers of the Corwin, who are admitted to have shown more zeal in the interest of the Alaska Commercial Co. than in behalf of the government they are supposed to serve.

SERIOUS AFFAIR FOR SIR JOHN.

The Vancouver News has gone back on Sir John Macdonald. In its issue of the 30th it says: "Straws show which way the wind blows" and it is evident to the reading public that a political revolution must soon take place in Canada. Sir John A. Macdonald has too long played with the sectional feelings of the people of Canada, and the time is now past when a public man can "ride the white horse" in an Orange procession one day and sup with the Sons of Erin the next. A few weeks ago the News announced itself as a supporter of Sir John Macdonald and his government. Will the Chieftian be able to withstand the defection of the News? Following so close upon the changed attitude of the Mail and Sir John to each other, it is feared this fresh laceration to Canada's Grand Old Man's wounded political feelings may have so serious an effect upon his nerves that he will at once capitulate in favor of his enemies—the hungry Grits, who are reported to be already preparing the governmental state for the new Liberal cabinet. Naughty News, to desert its colors in the hour of distress, and when fortitude and determination in the interest of the "party" of Sir John are so essential. Certain vermin will, however, continue to desert the sinking ship rather than drown.

THEY KILLED A HOG.

About two weeks ago a party of three hunters, (?) at present employed in a large manufactory business with headquarters on Government street, determined to pass away a week at Shawnigan Lake in hunting and fishing. On their way to the lake, one of the party had some misgivings about killing enough game for subsistence. To be on the safe side, however, they determined to keep a sharp lookout on the road for a stray heifer or hog and then "do it up." The latter animal was espied rooting by the wayside, a fine brood sow of about 200 pounds weight, and one of the party, with some joy about the proceedings, determined to act as executioner. The hog was accordingly shot in the head, bled and packed to the lake. All went well until the farmer owning the deceased hog got wind of the affair, located the guilty parties and made them come to terms by paying a handsome sum for the dead hog. Game is plentiful within a radius of 25 miles of Victoria and hunters who go out and then have misgivings about killing enough for subsistence had better stay at home; that would be far better than killing a farmer's hog and trying to conceal the fact.

NOT YET SETTLED.

Concerning the Burrard Inlet right of way dispute, the Vancouver News of the 30th says: "There was a rumor on the streets yesterday that the railway company had come to terms with the property owners, and had agreed to pay for the land under injunction, the sum of $125,000. Nothing is known of this statement officially. The matter is still under deliberation, but it is not expected that the decision of the company will be announced for some days." Notwithstanding the foregoing it is stated, and on reliable authority, that the solicitors of the company in this city last (Thursday) night forwarded to the solicitors of the company in the east, printed copies of the evidence taken in the case in this province, preparatory to an appeal being entered in the Supreme Court of Canada, at Ottawa, and that a hearing of the case will be reached at an early date.

A DELUGE OF STAGE PEOPLE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—There was an influx of actors and actresses from Europe to-day. The Alaska brought Augustin Daly's company and Violet Cameron and her troupe, also F. A. French, Miss Cameron's manager, and Lord Lonsdale, her treasurer. Miss Cameron's husband arrived ten minutes ahead of her on the Alaska. Mrs. Langtry and Charles Coghlan, her leading support, came over with their company on the Alaska, as did also Dion Boucicault. President Robert Garrett arrived on the Americs. Mrs. Langtry says she proposes to remain in this country.

JUST AS HORRIBLE.

The leading morning paper says this morning that the grave for the unfortunate Sproule was prepared at the cemetery and that they might have waited until the man was dead. It is just as applicable to state that the Colonist should not have published the lengthy article it did Thursday morning reviewing the case. It might have waited till the man was dead, but it preferred to be sensational rather than stick to the rules of journalism. It violated the rules of journalism in doing what it did do, and the editor knows that. His action was generally condemned.

NEW WESTMINSTER DISTRICT.

Mr. John Kirkland was in the city today and from him we learn, as well as through others from the mainland, that a wish has been expressed by many of his friends that Mr. Kirkland should allow himself to be placed in nomination for the vacant seat in the Commons, and that it is likely he will yield to their wishes and become a candidate. As yet we have not heard from any of the other gentlemen whose names have been mentioned in connection with the vacancy.

THE WHITE HOUSE.

The gaslight display of new and seasonable dry goods and millinery in the show windows of the WHITE HOUSE this evening promises to be one of more than ordinary attraction. In anticipation of a brisk fall and winter season's trade the energetic and enterprising firm of Messrs. Hutcheson, Young & Co., have made extra large importations of high class goods, suitable for family trade and that of this city. The goods will be on view this (Friday) evening from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

QUICK TRANSIT.

Mr. John Weiler, of the Fort street furniture emporium, yesterday received a car load of furniture and household furnishings from the east, to be followed by another to-day. The time occupied between St. Paul and Victoria was nine days, which is considered to be rapid transit for freight. These cars came over the Northern Pacific and the Oregon Railway and Navigation Co.'s system to this city.

TROTTING RACE.

The two fast trotters "Fanny Irving" and "Inauguration" will test their mettle at the Driving Park to-morrow at 1:30, in heats, best three in five. A great desire is expressed to see these trotters handled properly and the best one will then win. Providing the weather is fine a large crowd will be in attendance and a good race may be looked for.

THE MAYOR'S VOTE.

The deadlock in the council, on the appointment of a street overseer, illustrates the need of a further revision of our municipal laws and the rules of order of the council. Formerly the Mayor had two votes, but the late incumbent rarely exercised his right to more than one. In the selection of municipal officers the vote is taken by secret ballot, and Mayor Bithet then recorded his vote in the same way as the councillors; although on one occasion, when a tie resulted he gave a casting vote at the request of the council. Since then the Mayor's voting power has been limited by the legislature to a casting vote, and no provision has been made for a secret vote by the presiding officer on the occasion of the election of officers by ballot. It was unquestionably the intention of the council, in providing for the selection of officers by ballot, to make the vote a secret one. The Mayor ought not to be required to do openly what a councillor can do under the protection of a ballot—if one votes openly the other should do likewise. Otherwise it is obvious the whole responsibility would be placed on the shoulders of the head of the corporation, and in deciding between two worthy citizens this is always a most unpleasant duty to perform.

A RICH COPPER MINE.

Very valuable discoveries have recently been made on the north shore and west of Lake Superior of mineral deposits, especially in silver and copper. An Ottawa dispatch of the 26th instant states that Sir John Macdonald, Sir Charles Tupper and Sir George Stephen have gone to Sudbury Junction, to examine the great copper find there. Mr. Ridbie, the manager of the new mine, is in the city, and gives glowing accounts of the vast extent and yielding properties of the ore. The copper ridge is four miles in length, 1,500 feet wide and 200 feet deep. The percentage of pure copper is very large. Already operations have been begun at the mine on a somewhat extended scale, but it will soon be developed to its fullest capacity. Mr. McKay, who made his millions by mining, saw the specimens of copper ore and stated that it was the finest ore he had ever seen. He expressed his surprise at the extent of the copper seam, and stated that the largest mine he had ever seen or heard of previously was at Butte, Montana, which had only an opening of 250 feet.

MR SPENCER'S ARCADE.

The building erected by Mr. David Spencer, extending from Government to Broad street, will be thrown open by its enterprising proprietor to the public this evening, and an invitation has been extended to every citizen of Victoria, as well as sojourners, to visit his mammoth establishment, which is a credit not only to its proprietor, but likewise to the city of Victoria and the province of British Columbia. To-day a staff of employees are busy marking and stowing away goods, which were imported expressly for Mr. Spencer's trade. The work has been pushed on with remarkable rapidity, but it will be some days yet ere many of the fixtures will be in position or the establishment considered as complete. Meantime all who wish to witness a fine display of seasonable and fashionable goods should turn out this evening.

A LARGE CARGO.

The British bark Thos. S. Stowe, Capt. Fraser, under charter to Messrs. Robert Ward & Co., will clear for London on Tuesday with a cargo of 30,458 cases of salmon, valued at $172,463. The cargo is made up as follows: Ewen & Co., 6140; Anglo-British Co., 8749 cases shipped by Robert Ward & Co.; Rivers Inlet Canning Co, 5000 cases; F. D. B., 5000, shipped by Findlay, Durham & Brodie; Wellington Packing Co., 2500; Laidlaw & Co. (Dominion), 3566; Delta Canning Co., 4083 cases, shipped by Welch, Rithet & Co.

RESPITED SPROULE.

The respite to the prisoner Sproule was in consequence of pressing telegrams received from prominent citizens of Victoria and the representations of the U. S. government. If the unfortunate man is to suffer for the murder of Hammill, there is only one way now to punish him. The sentence should be commuted to imprisonment for life. The next step in this painful drama will be awaited with a peculiar interest.

NO BAND COMPETITION.

It is believed that the brass band competition at the Provincial exhibition will not come off. Three bands are to enter or no competition. The Queen City Brass band consider the prize $100 too small for three days playing and consequently will not compete. This is to be regretted as the competition would have been both exciting and pleasing.

Mr. John Teague, architect, calls for tenders for the restoring of Mr. Heathorn's premises, Government street, next to the post office, lately destroyed by fire. Active operations will be begun at once, the tenders to be delivered by Wednesday, the 6th inst. The beauty of our chief thoroughfare will shortly be as of yore.
